Student Report (8th June T.M)

I would like to talk about myself today.

I am a very shy person.

If I remained to be the shy person I was last year, I wouldn't have applied for the homestay program.

I was very scared to be with strangers and couldn't sleep from the night before the orientation. I even thought of quitting the program.

However, I decided to build up the courage and participated. I realized the other 9 students were all very good people. I was very nervous in the beginning but learned how to joke around with everyone!

I'm also not good in the English language. Whenever I try, it seems like I cannot get my message across. However, as I began to go along with everyone, we all helped each other out.

It has only been 4 days but it feels like we've all been close for a very long time.

I actually couldn't believe I would ever have the chance to go to France. My mom even told me, "You wouldn't have gone abroad if it was last year!" with a smile on her face.

The reason for my application, is to see the world, meet people from around the world, and to become a stronger person.

Our chaperone commented that I changed since the orientation. I didn't notice it myself, but it seemed like I laugh more often now, which I didn't before.

I must have changed if I'm getting positive comments just after 4 days.

I also became able to talk to students in the dormitory. It was hard for both because of the language barrier, we all got along very well.

We only have 10 days left, so I hope to learn as much French and talk to as many people as I can. With a chance like this, I do not want any regrets in my stay here. I will do my best!
